Southern California Gas Company and San Diego Gas & Electric

Combined Gas Operations

- Service Territory 27,000 sq. miles
- Customers 5.8 million
- Pipelines
  - Mains 55,000 miles
  - Service 44,000 miles
- Underground Storage Capacity 122 Bcf
- Annual Throughput 900 Bcf

Existing CNG station Infrastructure in Southern California

- There are almost 70 public access stations located throughout Southern California.
  - Depending on where your vehicles are located and refueled, it may NOT be necessary to build your own CNG (or LNG) station.
- Maps of CNG stations are available from several sources:
  - CNGVC map booklets
  - Internet sites such as www.cleancarmaps.com or www.cngvc.org
  - SoCalGas and SDG&E “one page” maps (updated monthly).

What if I'm interested in building my own CNG station?

- Contact your local gas utility to understand your infrastructure options.
  - SoCalGas and SDG&E have NGV Account Executives specifically assigned to assist NGV operators.
  - NGV Account Executives handle requests for gas service
    - Based on proximity to gas pipelines and estimated CNG station throughput, the cost to provide gas service will vary.

What other resources are available?

- Contact your local gas utility to understand your other options.
  - NGV Account Executives can answer questions regarding:
    - Grant funding from local, state, and federal sources
    - Regulations from local, state, and federal sources
    - Third party station builders, operators, and other vendors
    - Training courses subsidized by SoCalGas and SDG&E
    - Vehicle manufacturers
    - RD&D opportunities
